WHY EVERY MAY SHOULD MARCH.-First, because he is a man, and the nation needs him -because the one, world-grasping question which this struggle is to decide is Shall this Nation dic? The St. Louis Republican appears to have been more fortunate and gives us some insight into its contents. Mr. Breck- which give him the right to make such an assince his expulsion from home that be could place his feet on the soil of Kentucky. This is a most impudent perversion of the truth, for he never was expelled from home, he left Lexington impelled by his guilty fears of arrest, and his retreat was lighted by the burning self-conciousness of his complicity with treason. When the mock Duke of Tolin's Comedy is compelled to lay aside the borrowed robes of authori'y he does it with a constrained grace "as a well-bred dog walks down stairs when he sous preparations making for kicking him down," and in the same spirit Breekiuridge resigns his scat as a member of the Senate of the United States, saying, "I exchange with proud satisfaction a term of six years in the United States Senate for the murket of a soldier." This is the bluster of the Ancient I stol, for we all know that the service of the Ex-Senator, if he serves at all, will be in some honorary position, with sword and on a charger. Cur St. Louis contemporary says the address would fill two of its columns, and is made up of misrepresentations. Brackinridge says there is no longer a Senate of the United States within the meaning and spirit of the Constitution-"the United States no longer existe-the Union is dissolved.' But Kentucky is still one of the United States; his decrived and betrayed constituents are still loyal; they recognize proudly the existence of the government of their drew his pay from the Federal Treasury for his services? If Mr. Breckinnidge believed, when he took the Government's gold, that the United States no longer existed and that the Union was dissolved, he acted like a petty larceny thief and a swindler. He knows that his course is indefensible, he is self-convicted of the vilest treachery to the State which has and abandon their threatening attitude. We do not care particularly about seeing the text of this last dying speech and confession of John C. Breckenridge. We know that he cannot justify his conduct, but that he has the insidious talent to conseal his real purposes beneath glittering sentences and honeyed words The Republican calls them "frivolous and unjustifiable excuses for a bad act." But the trial and condemnation of Mr. Breckenridge were held and pronounced before the jury of popular orinion months and months ago. While he was holding the second other in the gift of this people and presiding over the Senate of the United States; while he was afterwards a candidate for the Presidency, and while he was exreising the duties of a United States Senator, he was plotting to betray his country and was in league with the infamous traitors who conspired to break up the government. Of all the persons engaged in this neferious work, he achieved the lowest depth of degradation, for be allowed himself to be used as a fourth randidate to distract and divide the vote of the citizens. country, with the full confidence that it would ead to the election of Mr. Lincoln, and thus presunt to the Southern mal-untents a pretent for their acts of seconsion.
